

General Learning Activities

Pick and choose from this selection of activities whilst you are learning from home.
You can repeat the activities as many times as you would like to.

Topic:

- Practise your typing skills on a keyboard. Can you type your name? Can you remember where the spacebar is? How do you make a full stop? Which button makes the letters into CAPITALS? Can you type a question and use a question mark?
- Find something to upcycle. It might be a sock with a hole in that you turn into puppet, an old piece of furniture that you could paint in bright colours, perhaps even turn a pair of wellies that are too small into a hanging plant pot for your garden.
- Become a scientist! Do an experiment to find out how something works or observe what happens. There are lots of ideas here:

- Think about the ways that you can be a good friend. How can you show other people that you care about them?

Maths:

- Play on the Mathletics website. If you complete all of the activities, then you can try 'Live Mathletics' to play against your friends. There are also lots of workbooks that can be printed off and completed.
- Make sure you are really secure and counting forwards and backwards with numbers 0 – 20. You can practise with higher numbers too if you would like.
- Work on jump counting in twos, fives and tens.
- Practise your number bonds to make 10 and 20.
- Keep using money and playing shops. Adding together total amounts and taking away amounts to get change is brilliant calculation practice.
- Remember those 2D and 3D shapes. How many can you name? Can you remember which parts of the shapes are sides, faces and corners? Describe the shapes. Are they pointy? Flat? Curved? Round? Use real objects to help you

Literacy:

- Practise your Tricky Words. Reading and writing them independently is important. You can use your flash cards to help you.
- Keep working on your handwriting. Remember, most letters start at the top (apart from d and e). Try and get your letters to sit on the line and let f, g, j, p, q and y hang under.
- Write some sentences. You might write about a book that you have enjoyed, what you have done during the day, a film that you have watched. You might even want to write about a piece of art or music that you have seen or listened to.
- Use story language! Think of your own story idea and tell it to your grown up. If you can't write it all down yet, then ask a grown up to write whilst you tell the story.
- Practise matching and writing the capital letters.
- Write a list of five things, e.g. animals, foods, countries, colours, items of clothing – but you have to sound out the words on your own!

Enrichment Activities:

- Learn how to play a new game. It might be a board game, a card game, a game online or a sports game.
- Try some Yoga on <http://www.cosmickids.com/category/watch/>
- Get outside and enjoy all the things that nature has to offer! Den building... Making a bug house... Bird watching... Rolling down a hill really fast... Making mud pies... Creating a picture with natural objects... going on a long walk or bike ride... the possibilities are endless!
- Get cooking. Challenge yourself to create a healthy recipe. How many fruits or vegetables can you use in one recipe?
